

High Street Recovery resources map (May 2021)

What is this for?

This document is an initial resources 'map' to signpost local authority Place Directors, and their teams to sources of advice, support and other key resources to help respond and develop strategies and actions plan related to High Street Recovery. It provides a brief overview of the work provided by a range of national organisations, from within and outside the local government sector, to support local authorities on High Street recovery work. It includes direct links to relevant websites, publications and tools that local authorities could utilise in their efforts to respond to the challenges High Streets are facing. This is a first draft of the content; however, there are intentions to develop this into something more interactive, dynamic and user-friendly. If you have any suggestions as to how we can progress this or additional resources that should be included, please send them to Hannah Bartram (Hannah.Bartram@eastsussex.gov.uk) and Connor Sheffield (Connor.Sheffield@buckinghamshire.gov.uk).

What is included here?

For each of the organisations listed below we have drawn on publicly available information from their websites and provided weblinks direct to the source. We have asked a series of questions about each one: has the organisation –

- 1. Published a policy position paper or statement setting out its ideas for high street recovery and/or policy asks of Government?
- 2. Prepared a suggested action plan or workplan for its own future activities in relation to high street recovery?
- 3. Produced a toolkit, or does it provide advice & support, to help plan for and implement high street recovery?
- 4. Published case studies of how high streets can recover locally?
- 5. Run events, workshops or session at a conference, on high street recovery?
- 6. Produced guidance for parish and town councils?
